What it does

- Ingests millions of lines of sales data and produces royalty statements in minutes — not weeks.
- Handles complex deal terms, contract rate escalations and black-box revenue distribution across masters and publishing.
- Automated statements with artist and composer self-service access.
- In-depth analytics on revenue, sources and statement pipeline.
- Web-based, mobile-optimised, cloud-native — scales without on-prem servers.

Why it matters

Royalty accounting is the most fragile spreadsheet stack in the music industry. SumBeat replaces it with one auditable system — built by royalty professionals, for royalty professionals.
